FEE AUDITOR'S FINIAL REPORT REGARDING INTERIM APPLICATION OF KIRKLAND & ELLIS
FOR THE FIRST, SECOND, AND THIRD INTERIM PERIODS

This is the final report of Warren H. Smith & Associates, P.C. ("Smith"), acting in its capacity as fee auditor in the above-captioned bankruptcy proceedings, regarding the Interim Application of Kirkland & Ellis for the First, Second, and Third Interim Periods (the "Application").

BACKGROUND

1. Kirkland & Ellis ("Kirkland" or "K&E") was retained as bankruptcy counsel to the Debtors. In the Application, Kirkland seeks approval of fees totaling $4,569,666.00 and expenses totaling $321,555.72 for its services from April 2, 2001, through December 31, 2001.

2. In conducting this audit and reaching the conclusions and recommendations contained herein, we reviewed in detail the Application in its entirety, including each of the time entries included in the exhibits to the Application, for compliance with the Local Rule 2016-2 of the Local Rules of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware, Amended Effective February 1, 2001, and the United States Trustee Guidelines for Reviewing Applications for Compensation and Reimbursement of Expenses Filed Under 11 U.S.C. 330, Issued January 30, 1996, (the "Guidelines"), as well as for consistency with precedent established in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware, the United States District Court for the District of Delaware, and the Third Circuit Court of Appeals. We served on Kirkland an initial report based on our review and received a response from Kirkland, portions of which response are quoted herein.

DISCUSSION

General Issues

3. In our initial report, we noted that Kirkland professionals Sullivan, Shenoy, Melvin, Grummer, Stephenson, Fox, Alke, Lutz, Kapp, Schwartz, Pope, Sorce, Running, Ney, Bernick, McMillin, Hardy, Baer, Windley, Mitchell, Higgins, Sprayregen, Maynes, Bates, Oslan, and Keller did not consistently provide adequate detail in their time entries. We asked Kirkland to advise these professionals to provide more information in their time entries in the future. Kirkland replied that it has worked, and will continue to work, to ensure that individual timekeepers provide adequate information in their time entries.

4. In our initial report, we noted that Kirkland professionals Alke, Melvin, Mitchell, Sullivan, Kapp, Schwartz, Baer, Fabian, Running, Bernick, Pope, McMillin, Hardy, and Windley consistently lumped their time entries. We asked Kirkland to advise these professionals not to lump their time entries in the future. Kirkland replied that it has worked, and will continue to work, assiduously to avoid lumping time in its entries to ensure that time is kept in tenth of an hour increments.

5. In our initial report, we noted that during the August 2001 billing cycle, J. Baer's hourly rate increased from $495 to $510, J. Kapp III's hourly rate increased from $415 to $425, B. Windley's hourly rate increased from $150 to $170, and S. Mitchell's hourly rate increased from $70 to $85. We asked Kirkland to explain these rate increases, as the Guidelines require. Kirkland responded that

[t]hese rate increases were in addition to the normal firm-wide annual rate adjustments that normally occur during the July billing cycle each year.

Commencing on August 1, 2001, K&E further adjusted the rates for Ms. Baer and Mr. Kapp to bring them into line with those of other bankruptcy attorneys of similar experience. Similarly, K&E also adjusted the billing rates firm-wide for their legal assistants and project assistants, including Ms. Windley and Ms. Mitchell, to better reflect the then-prevailing market rates for paraprofessionals of similar skill and experience.

We accept Kirkland's explanations regarding these relatively small increases in the referenced rates, and we recommend no reduction in this regard.

Specific Time and Expense Entries

6. In our initial report, we noted that between July 2, 2001, and November 30, 2001, Kirkland billed 1,441.45 hours for a cost to the bankruptcy estate of $545,264.55 for projects where the number of professionals assigned to the task seemed high. See Exhibit A. We asked Kirkland to explain why so many professionals were assigned to each task. Kirkland responded in detail regarding each of the projects referenced in Exhibit A. Kirkland's response in this regard is attached hereto as Response Exhibit 1. We accept the explanations offered in Response Exhibit 1 regarding with respect to items A-2 and A-3 and with respect to the CMO Brief and the CMO Hearing. We recommend no reductions with respect to those items.

7. With respect to item A-1 of Exhibit A, we note that Kirkland accuses us of "conflat[ing]" a number of unrelated automatic stay issues and motions. If we have done so, it is because explanations such as "Attend to matters re stay" and "draft motion for relief from automatic stay" fall far short of the level of specificity envisioned by the Guidelines, and because the time entries restated in part A-1 of Exhibit A appear seriatim in the fee detail¹ without any description to differentiate one stay issue from another. Kirkland states that the activities reflected in part A-1 of

¹ The time entries included in Exhibit A constitute 27 of 28 time entries in the project category for the month of July 2001.

are a small portion of the time spent by K&E attorneys on literally dozens of different issues relating to enforcement of the automatic stay as well as the myriad issues relating to the formulation and negotiation of the scope of the preliminary injunction (the “Preliminary Injunction”) that the Bankruptcy Court put into place on May 3, 2001, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit A, barring the prosecution of currently pending asbestos-related actions and fraudulent transfer actions against certain affiliates of the Debtors.

While we understand that there are “dozens of different issues” involved, we believe that the real problem here is the failure to provide adequate detail regarding the services rendered. Ultimately, we accept the explanation for the involvement of each of the professionals referenced in item A-1 of Exhibit A, but we must admonish Kirkland to provide greater detail regarding its activities relating to the automatic stay in the future.

8. With respect to item A-4 of Exhibit A, we accept Kirkland’s explanation and recommend no reduction. We note, however, that the attorneys regularly billed in half-hour increments rather than in tenths of an hour as is directed by paragraph II.D.5 of the Guidelines: “Time entries should be kept contemporaneously with the services rendered in time periods of tenths of an hour”. We expect Kirkland’s professionals to adhere to this guideline in the future.

9. With respect to item A-5 of Exhibit A, we accept Kirkland’s explanation regarding all of the time entries included within item A-5 other than those relating to the “College of Knowledge”. With respect to these entries, Kirkland explained that

Ms. Fabian attended a conference sponsored by the Debtors’ in-house counsel as a means of understanding Debtors-specific asbestos-related issues.

It is our opinion that the 7.5 hours ($1,725) billed by Ms. Fabian for reviewing the “College of Knowledge binder” are non-compensable. The bankruptcy estate should not be asked to pay for the training of the attorneys it employs; indeed, the engagement of counsel presupposes an expertise in the relevant practice area. Fundamentally, the training of new associates is an overhead expense that must be borne by the firm. Additionally, as with item A-4, we also note that the attorneys regularly billed in half-hour increments rather than in tenths of an hour as is directed by paragraph II.D.5 of the Guidelines. With respect to item A-5 of Exhibit A, we recommend a reduction of $1,725 in fees.

10. In our initial report, we noted that between July 10, 2001, and December 13, 2001, Kirkland billed 408.8 hours for a cost to the bankruptcy estate of $177,587.11 in fees for 19 occasions in which multiple professionals attended or participated in the same meeting, hearing, or conference call. See Exhibit B. We asked Kirkland to explain why it was necessary for multiple professionals to participate in each of these meetings, hearings, and conference calls. Kirkland provided a lengthy, detailed response (which is attached hereto as Response Exhibit 2; the introduction to Response Exhibit 1 also touches on the relevant issues) that addressed our concerns with respect to each of these instances. Accordingly, we recommend no reduction for these instances of multiple staffing.

11. In our initial report, we noted that between July 13, 2001, and August 23, 2001, Kirkland billed the bankruptcy estate $2,071.50 for time entries which appear to be not calculated correctly. See Exhibit C. We asked Kirkland to adjust the invoices appropriately. Instead, Kirkland responded that the errors were errors in transcription, not errors in addition:

Based upon various attorneys' notes, the time discrepancies should be corrected as follows: (1) Mr. Bernick's time for "preparation for Asbestos team meeting" should be 0.3 hours vice 0.2 (Exhibit C-1), (2) Ms. Windley's telephone conferences with local counsel should be 0.5 hours vice 0.4 (Exhibit C-2), (3) Ms. Baer spent 4.0 hours reviewing "bar date notice cases and pleadings" vice 0.4 hours (Exhibit C-3) and (4) Ms. Baer spent 1.3 hours participating in telephone conferences vice 1.0 hours.

We accept the explanations offered by Kirkland, and we recommend no reduction in this regard.

12. In our initial report, we noted that between July 2, 2001, and September 28, 2001, Kirkland billed 195.3 hours for a cost to the bankruptcy estate of $32,122.50 for matters regarding which a large amount of research was conducted despite the fact that the subject matter falls into categories that would seem to be routine for a firm of Kirkland's expertise. See Exhibit D. We asked Kirkland to explain why each of these tasks was necessary given the firm's expertise and probable experience with these issues in the past.

13. Regarding 167.3 hours in time entries for asbestos litigation research reflected in Exhibit D, Kirkland responded:

Yvette Ney, a 2001 summer associate, prepared a detailed internal research memorandum under Mr. Running's supervision that focused on product liability and other legal issues raised by the ZAI claims, and which had not been addressed in the Debtors' prepetition litigation and other relevant pleadings. Mr. Running provided Ms. Ney with all relevant prior legal research and ensured that her research did not duplicate prior work.

Despite Kirkland's assurance that Mr. Running's supervision channeled this summer associate's efforts in a direction that avoided duplication of other research projects, we note that Mr. Running spent just .90 hour in such a supervisory role. Moreover, our review of the time records in the "Asbestos Litigation" project category does not indicate that Mr. Running or any other attorney reviewed this summer associate's work product or used it in any fashion, despite the fact that this summer associate billed 166.4 hours on the project at $125 per hour. Even with the explanation offered above, the subject matter of this research is poorly defined, and we cannot conclude that this summer associate's activities conferred any benefit on the estate. See 11 U.S.C. § 330(a)(3)(C). We accordingly recommend a reduction of $21,223 in fees.

14. Regarding 14.4 hours in time entries for Daubert/Robinson research reflected in Exhibit D, Kirkland responded:

Mr. McMillin was assigned to research standards applied to the admissibility of expert testimony in asbestos cases, both under the federal Daubert standard as well as various state law standards. Mr. McMillin's research focused on the differences between the state law standards and those that would be applied in this bankruptcy under the Federal Rules of Evidence. Mr. McMillin also looked for precedent on how other federal courts had applied the Daubert standard to asbestos-related expert testimony.

We accept this explanation and recommend no reduction in this regard.

15. Regarding 17.7 hours in time entries for ordinary-course professional research reflected in Exhibit D, Kirkland responded:

As the time entries indicate, Mr. Schwartz researched and drafted an internal research memorandum for the Debtors containing guidelines for the Debtors to determine whether certain transactions would be actions taken in the ordinary course of business and whether Bankruptcy Court approval was necessary. This memorandum did not touch on any issues relating to the employment of ordinary course professionals.

We accept this explanation and recommend no reduction in this regard.

16. In our initial report, we noted that between October 1, 2001, and November 30, 2001, Kirkland billed 203.7 hours for a cost to the bankruptcy estate of $23,735.50 for tasks which might be characterized as ministerial. See Exhibit E. We asked Kirkland to explain why these costs should not be so characterized. Kirkland responded generally that the kinds of tasks that Exhibit D lists are not secretarial-type tasks, but are, instead, tasks best suited to paraprofessionals. Indeed, as discussed at the August 26, 2002, hearing, K&E's future (e.g., the July 2002 and subsequent) fee applications will more fully describe the time entries for similar tasks so as to clearly indicate that they are not merely ministerial in nature.

Kirkland responded further regarding item E-1 of Exhibit E:

Catherine Filippini was responsible for cataloging and indexing approximately 50 boxes of documents received from the law firm of Weil, Gotshal & Manges LLP, which had been the Debtors' counsel on this tax controversy with the Internal Revenue Service. As described in the Debtors' response for the fourth interim period, this tax controversy concerned the deductibility of certain expenses. The documents received from Weil, Gotshal had to be cataloged and indexed before

K&E's tax attorneys could begin to review them in preparation for developing the Debtors' response in this multi-million dollar tax controversy. This was a document review effort every bit as complex as a major document production.

We accept the general thrust of this response, but it is our opinion that the preparation of labels is a ministerial/secretarial task for which compensation should not be awarded. Since 4.3 hours of Ms. Filippini's time relates to this activity (at $70 per hour), we recommend a reduction of $301 in fees.

17. Kirkland offered several responses regarding item E-2 of Exhibit E. The first such response regards the time entries from the "Case Administration" project category:

During 2001, Ms. Windley (who has since left the firm) was the primary bankruptcy legal assistant assigned to these chapter 11 cases and Ms. Mitchell was the primary bankruptcy project assistant assigned to these chapter 11 cases. Ms. Mitchell worked under Ms. Windley's direct supervision. Ms. Pope, as the Fee Auditor is aware, is the primary litigation legal assistant assigned to these chapter 11 cases. Mr. Alke and Ms. Knox were two of her project assistants. Marguerite Melvin is a New York office-based legal assistant who has performed a limited and specialized role in these chapter 11 cases and who has filled in on occasion when Ms. Pope is not available.

Ms. Windley was responsible for reviewing all bankruptcy-related pleadings prior to their being filed in K&E's voluminous and complex bankruptcy and litigation support files. These bankruptcy files encompass all the materials associated with the bankruptcy docket and are materially different in scope from the litigation support files for which Ms. Pope is responsible. Ms. Mitchell was her assistant in these matters, and performed a great many tasks specifically in order to ensure that they were accomplished by the lowest-billing paraprofessional capable of performing the particular task. Ms. Mitchell also spent considerable time retrieving documents for attorney use and review that were on the docket, a task that cannot be assigned to a secretary because secretaries generally do not possess the requisite skills to search an electronic docket, especially in instances where attorneys cannot readily identify the document sought. Furthermore, it is inappropriate to assign such tasks to attorneys because attorneys have higher and better uses and bill at far too high a rate.

Ms. Pope, as the Fee Auditor is aware from the August 26, 2002, hearing and K&E's responses to the fee auditor's initial and final reports on the fourth interim quarter, has the primary responsibility of assisting the K&E litigation team of attorneys by performing the myriad tasks described below. Primarily, Ms. Pope has been charged with creating and maintaining the voluminous case files required in these chapter 11 cases, which currently include fifteen (15) cabinets of documents, three complex, computer-based databases and 300 boxes of documents produced to the plaintiffs in the fraudulent conveyance adversary proceeding. These case files support both the complex litigation at the heart of these chapter 11 cases and the bankruptcy-related legal proceedings. As reflected in some of the time entries in Exhibit E-2 to the Initial Report, the project assistants (and Ms. Pope on occasion if no one else is available) furnish case file documents to attorneys for their review on an as-needed basis.

One of Ms. Pope's other critical duties is to review all correspondence and pleadings in order to "learn" the case and to "know" the files, which she must do in order to properly support the K&E litigation team of attorneys. Furthermore, a knowledgeable individual must intelligently review these documents and correspondence on an intake basis to determine their proper handling. In many cases, Ms. Pope is the most efficient person to perform this task because her billing rate is less than that of an attorney who would otherwise have to be assigned to the task. This role is primarily reflected in the K&E fee application detail in certain entries such as "reviewing correspondence", some of which are listed in Exhibit B to the Initial Report.

As the Fee Auditor is also aware from the fourth interim period, Ms. Melvin performs the discrete, albeit critical task of regularly reviewing the Daily Bankruptcy Review, other bankruptcy-related trade publications and other media for articles relevant to these chapter 11 cases. This review ensures that the K&E team is efficiently kept apprised of all relevant developments in these chapter 11 cases. Although Ms. Melvin has, in recent months, trained a secretary to perform a much larger role, she remains primarily responsible for overseeing this review. Nonetheless, on a going-forward basis, K&E expects that the cost of this vital task will decrease. During the period at issue in the Initial Report, however, Ms. Melvin was still defining the scope of the task, which required her to be far more "hands-on" than she is now and will be in the future.

Finally, as alluded to above and as the Fee Auditor is aware from the fourth interim period, Ms. Mitchell, Mr. Alke and Ms. Knox are project assistants who perform day-to-day tasks maintaining the case files. They also assist in other functions under the supervision of various legal assistants assigned to these chapter 11 cases, such as Ms. Pope and Ms. Windley. They bill at a far lower rate than the legal assistants and perform the vast majority of the "ministerial tasks" referred to in the Initial Report. Indeed, the project assistants are generally the ideal persons to perform these types of tasks because they are lower-paid than secretaries even though they are generally better-qualified than the secretaries and have more case-specific knowledge as a function of their day-to-day assignments and roles. It would be impossible to manage these cases without the project assistants working with the legal assistants to maintain this huge database of documents. Project assistants are a necessary and cost-effective component of the K&E team.

We accept the explanations regarding most of the instant time entries, including those reflecting Ms. Windley's time spent reviewing case documents and assigning file categories. However, we note that the above response does not explain why a number of entries reflecting the preparation of copies of documents by these professionals should be compensated. These entries total 7.3 hours for BJA at $70 per hour, 2.4 hours for SMM at $85 per hour, 2.1 hours for MMM at $150 per hour, 2.0 hours for SAP at $155 per hour, 3.0 hours for KKL at $155 per hour, and 2.2 hours for BFW at $170 per hour. Accordingly, we recommend a reduction of $2,179 in fees.

18. The next response regarding item E-2 of Exhibit E regards the time entries in the "Claim Estimate, Objection and Resolution - Fees" project category:

Ms. Pope's time was classified in error in this matter and should have been classified in Case Administration and is discussed above. Ms. Mitchell had an additional task of maintaining the log of proofs of claim that the Debtors received until information about the claims agent was provided to the public in bar date notices. This task, which is relatively complex and involved maintaining several classes of claims, including administrative claims, the several categories of priority claims and general unsecured claims, required expertise far greater than that of a secretary but did not require extensive work by an attorney. Normally, such a function would be performed by a claims agent. In these chapter 11 cases, however, because of the intense controversy over the bar date and notice program, as discussed above, the Debtors were unable to efficiently notify the public about the claims agent until many months had passed and had to maintain this early claims register.

We accept this explanation and recommend no reduction in fees in this regard.

19. The next response regarding item E-2 of Exhibit E regards the time entry in the "Contested Matters/Adversary Proceedings - Fees" project category:

While K&E's paraprofessionals normally maintain the witness files, some attorney supervision is required to ensure that the files are properly organized and contain all of the required documents. Exhibit E-2 reflects one such time entry by Mr. Sullivan.

We accept this explanation and recommend no reduction for the referenced time entry.

20. The next response regarding item E-2 of Exhibit E regards time entries for paraprofessional fees at a November 21, 2001, hearing within the project category "Hearings - Fees":

As discussed above, the November 21, 2001, CMO Hearing was virtually equivalent to a full trial. It required considerable paraprofessional support, as reflected by these time entries. Indeed, Ms. Pope's time reflects the broad array of tasks assigned to her, including meeting with vendors, arranging for the required technical support and organizing the dozens of boxes of materials and documents required. Mr. Alke provided the needed liaison in Chicago, where the vast majority of K&E's files reside, to ensure that a knowledgeable person could locate documents as required and provide other needed support. K&E understands that Mr. Alke's time entry for 11/20 should have been more detailed and will endeavor in the future to ensure that similar time entries are more detailed.

We accept this explanation and recommend no reduction in fees in this regard.

21. In our initial report, we noted that between December 25, 2001, and December 31, 2001, Kirkland billed 9.0 hours for a cost to the bankruptcy estate of $5,895 for the drafting of a letter to Judge Wolin.

12/25/01	Bernick, P.C.	1.50	Prepare letter to Judge Wolin.
12/26/01	Bernick, P.C.	1.00	Prepare letter to Judge Wolin.
12/27/01	Bernick, P.C.	1.50	Prepare Judge Wolin letter.
12/29/01	Bernick, P.C.	1.00	Further work on Judge Wolin letter.
12/30/01	Bernick, P.C.	2.50	Draft letter to Judge Wolin.
12/31/01	Bernick, P.C.	1.50	Prepare Judge Wolin letter.

We asked Kirkland to provide additional information regarding this project. Kirkland enclosed a copy of the letter to Judge Wolin and responded that Exhibit N is a copy of Mr. Bernick's letter to Judge Wolin summarizing the huge amount of material contained in the CMO motion, CMO reply and related pleadings. As described above, Judge Wolin was assigned to these chapter 11 cases almost eight months after they had commenced, and after the entire case management matter had already been fully briefed for Judge Farnan in preparation for the November 21, 2001, CMO Hearing. At Judge Wolin's request, Mr.

Bernick drafted this letter to succinctly summarize for Judge Wolin the myriad complex issues involved in case management in these chapter 11 cases.

We accept this explanation and accordingly recommend no reduction in this regard.

22. In our initial report, we noted that between September 26, 2001, and September 28, 2001, Kirkland billed 7.5 hours for a cost to the bankruptcy estate of $825.00 for research whose purpose and benefit to the estate is unclear.

9/26/01	Business/Ind Research	0.50	Business Industry Research
9/26/01	Business/Ind Research	2.00	Business Industry Research
9/26/01	Business/Ind Research	5.00	Business Industry Research

We asked Kirkland to provide additional information regarding this project. Kirkland responded that

K&E performed certain background research regarding various constituencies in the field of asbestos claims resolution. This research was later applied in a number of litigation areas.

We accept this explanation and accordingly recommend no reduction in this regard.

CONCLUSION

23. Thus, we recommend approval of fees totaling $4,544,238 ($4,569,666 minus $25,428) and costs totaling $321,555.72 for Kirkland's services from April 2, 2001, through December 31, 2001.

Response Exhibit 1

In paragraph 6 and Exhibit A thereto, and in paragraph 7 and Exhibit B thereto, respectively, the Initial Report requests an explanation of two inter-related issues: (a) the number of professionals assigned to a particular task and (b) the presence of more than one professional at particular meetings, hearings and conferences. The Fee Auditor is well aware of the general explanation, which is essentially the same for both of the Fee Auditor's comments. It has been extensively discussed at the August 26, 2002, hearing, and explained by K&E in its responses to the Fee Auditor's initial and final reports regarding the fourth interim period of January 1, 2002, through March 31, 2002.

Simply stated, these chapter 11 cases are asbestos mass tort liability bankruptcy cases, and perforce, comprise a number of quite thorny asbestos-related claims resolution issues, including personal injury, Zonolite Attic Insulation ("ZAI") and other property damage claims. There are also fraudulent transfer allegations that must be litigated, not to mention the myriad bankruptcy issues that arise in chapter 11 cases of this magnitude. Not surprisingly, the workload in these chapter 11 cases is at once immense and complex.

To efficiently cope with this immense workload, K&E has adopted a team approach, with various parts of the team concentrating on particular issues. In many instances, such as development of the case management order ("CMO"), motion and related CMO pleadings and the various venue pleadings, each of which are discussed below, K&E's attorneys performed a variety of complex and substantial tasks. In others, such as the automatic stay matters, there were different attorneys assigned to several discrete and independent tasks.

Moreover, unlike the fourth interim period, when the outline of the litigation matters was fairly well established and the direction of the cases was very clear, the earlier periods were focused on (a) stopping all ancillary litigation in various courts around the country, which required obtaining a preliminary injunction, (b) understanding the unique claims resolution issues involved in the Debtors' bankruptcy, especially regarding the ZAI claims, (c) developing an approach to case management and (d) developing a claims bar date program for these chapter 11 cases that was tailored for two separate tracks - - nonasbestos-related claims and asbestos-related claims. Indeed, these objectives reflect the very reason why these chapter 11 cases commenced in the first place - - to permit the Debtors to deal with a mounting tidal wave of asbestos-related claims and litigation in a single forum and provide a basis for settling those claims.

Specifically:

(a) Automatic Stay Tasks (Exhibit A-1).

The time entries in Exhibit A-1 to the Initial Report conflate over a dozen different assignments or tasks that K&E attorneys accomplished during the July 2001 timeframe. These tasks are a small portion of the time spent by K&E attorneys on literally dozens of different issues relating to enforcement of the automatic stay as well as the myriad issues relating to the formulation and negotiation of the scope of the preliminary injunction (the "Preliminary Injunction") that the Bankruptcy Court put into place on May 3, 2001, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit A, barring the prosecution of currently pending asbestos-related actions and fraudulent transfer actions against certain affiliates of the Debtors.

Obtaining the proper scope of injunction was very important to the Debtors. A number of issues arose after the Preliminary Injunction was in place that highlighted the fact that its scope, as originally drafted, was somewhat too narrow. The Debtors therefore moved the Bankruptcy Court for a modification of the Preliminary Injunction to encompass many of these matters. On January 22, 2002, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order modifying the Preliminary Injunction, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit B, listing the new matters that the modified Preliminary Injunction covered.

Specifically:

Mr. Nylen, a 2001 summer associate working under Mr. Kapp's direct supervision, drafted a pleading to request that the automatic stay be lifted to permit an appeal by the defendant in a patent infringement case to proceed. Prior to the inception of the chapter 11 cases, the Debtors had successfully prosecuted this case as plaintiff and won a judgment at trial. The Debtors sought to have the appeal concluded so that they could collect on the judgment. Ultimately, the need to file pleadings was obviated when Ms. Baer, who became involved as a result of other matters she was working on, and other non-K&E attorneys for the Debtors were able negotiate a settlement with the defendant (and which relates to Ms. Baer's July 9 time).

As her time entries indicate, Ms. Baer also worked on a wide range of other issues relating to the automatic stay and the Preliminary Injunction. Ms. Baer's July 5 time entries relate to modifying the Preliminary Injunction to include new matters. As mentioned above, the Bankruptcy Court modified the Preliminary Injunction on January 22, 2002, to include a list of new matters. Generally, Ms. Baer was responsible during this period for all matters pertaining to the Preliminary Injunction (which encompassed the Smolker products liability and Abner asbestos cases, the Samson Hydrocarbon matters (environmental), the Libby cost recovery action, the Bettacchi (and other employment) matters and those automatic stay matters involving indemnity claims (the latter relating to Ms. Baer's time entries for July 11, 18 and 31).

Ms. Baer's July 10 time relates to the Honeywell motion to lift the automatic stay, which was one of several Samson Hydrocarbon matters covered by the Preliminary Injunction. Prior to the Petition Date, the Debtors had sold their petroleum business to Samson and, in connection therewith, had given Samson certain indemnities relating to environmental matters, which had been encompassed by the Preliminary Injunction. Indeed, Ms. Baer is still responding to inquiries from Samson on new environmental indemnity matters.

In addition to supervising Mr. Nylen in the patent infringement matter, Mr. Kapp spent time on several other discrete automatic stay-related tasks. First, as the "foreign tax authority" and "government regulatory authority" time entries show, Mr. Kapp fielded a number of questions from the Debtors' management concerning the scope of applicability of the automatic stay to governmental bodies, both foreign and domestic. The balance of Mr. Kapp's time entries relate to the Debtors' motion to extend time to remove actions, attached hereto as Exhibit C which was heard at the July 19, 2001, hearing, and pursuant to which the Bankruptcy Court entered an order on July 19, 2001, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

Roger Higgins spent time during July 2001 investigating the applicability of the automatic stay and the Preliminary Injunction to an asbestos-related worker's compensation case that was pending in Montana state court. Mr. Higgins worked closely with local counsel in resolving that matter.

(b) Fraudulent Transfer Issues (Exhibit A-2).

Exhibit A-2 to the Initial Report refers to a number of discrete but related tasks that K&E was performing in the early days of these chapter 11 cases with respect to one of the central issues: whether the Sealed Air and Fresenius transactions were fraudulent transfers. As the Fee Auditor is aware, and as discussed in K&E's responses to the Fee Auditor's reports on the fourth interim period and at the August 26, 2002, hearing, the Debtors had a duty to investigate possible fraudulent transfer claims regarding to determine whether the claims were worth pursuing.

Based upon this review, which commenced in earnest in July 2001, the Debtors concluded in early 2002 that these transactions were not fraudulent transfers and that there were no fraudulent transfer claims worth pursuing. During July 2001, Michelle Browdy was the K&E partner primarily responsible for this factual inquiry. In late July, Scott McMillin, a senior K&E associate, was assigned to assist Ms. Browdy, having been reassigned from other tasks in these chapter 11 cases. They worked closely together for the remainder of 2001 and into 2002 on this very large and factually complex project.

As part of this review, Ms. Browdy and Mr. McMillin drafted detailed outlines of the their intensive factual investigation. K&E subsequently used these outlines in the fraudulent transfer adversary proceeding commenced by the PI and PD Committees in 2002, in which the Debtors have intervened. As the Fee Auditor is aware, these matters were discussed extensively at the August 26, 2002, hearing and in the Debtors' responses to the Fee Auditor's initial and final reports on the fourth interim period.

K&E also performed a number of other related tasks during July 2001. First, K&E filed an opposition to the PI and PD Committees' motion to commence fraudulent transfer adversary proceeding. See Exhibit E. Mr. Bernick, as the senior litigation partner, and Mr. McMillin, who assisted him, were the primary authors of this pleading to which Ms. Baer and Mr. Kapp also lent their bankruptcy expertise.

K&E also drafted a 30-page internal memorandum to the client which provided a thorough legal analysis of the fraudulent transfer claims. This privileged document was important to management in assessing the nature and validity of the fraudulent transfer claims that the PI and PD committees sought to bring against Sealed Air and Fresenius. Finally, some time was spent in basic legal research on the various fraudulent transfer and related issues in support of all of these endeavors.

K&E's approach to fraudulent transfer, as has been discussed previously with respect to the fourth interim period, and as the Fee Auditor is aware, is team-based. Ms. Browdy and Mr.

McMillin are the litigation attorneys primarily responsible for these tasks during this period, working closely with Mr. Bernick, the senior litigator assigned to these cases. Ms. Baer and Mr. Kapp are the bankruptcy counsel who provided support on an as-needed basis.

(c) Venue Issues (Exhibit A-3).

Venue issues were critical in the early days of these chapter 11 cases because venue was implicated in numerous ongoing litigation matters in which the Debtors were then attempting to transfer venue to the Bankruptcy Court. The time entries cited in Exhibit A-3 to the Initial Report relate to three distinct matters, the Libby cases, the Abner case and the Smolker case.

The Libby cases are a pair of related, complex and high stakes cases in which Mark Grummer, Ms. Baer, Mr. Bernick and Reed Oslan, an environmental litigator, each have played a distinctive role. Prior to, and independent of, the chapter 11 cases, the Environmental Protection Agency and the Department of Justice had sued the Debtors in two separate CERCLA (environmental) actions related to the Libby, Montana Superfund site. The total recovery sought in the two cases may exceed $100 million. Prior to the chapter 11 cases commencing, the Libby cases had been pending in federal district court in Montana, where the site is located. The Debtors believed that the Bankruptcy Court was best able to resolve these issues because the Libby asbestos issues are related to the question of the Debtors' asbestos related liabilities. The Debtors therefore drafted and filed pleadings requesting that venue be transferred to Delaware. The venue arguments for such a transfer were complex, requiring substantial legal research and factual development. Because of the magnitude and sensitivity of the Libby matter, the briefs required review and approval by various client representatives and by Debtors' outside law firm for the Montana cases (Holme Roberts & Owen) as well as substantial internal K&E development and review.

Mr. Grummer, an environmental/CERCLA attorney with significant bankruptcy and litigation experience, accounted for the bulk of the time in the Libby matter. He performed most of the legal and factual research, wrote the briefs and affidavits, some of which are attached hereto as Exhibit E, obtained and incorporated comments from multiple K&E and client reviewers and served as contact point for Grace's outside counsel on the Montana cases. Ms. Baer provided the principal input on bankruptcy-related issues and reviewed drafts of the briefs pertaining to those issues. She also participated in strategy conferences as the K&E team formulated its venue brief. Mr. Bernick's time, which was relatively de minimis, was restricted to reviewing the venue brief in the Libby cases. Mr. Oslan also reviewed the draft briefs and provided considerable expertise on particular venue and environmental matters.

The Abner case is a ZAI and asbestos property damage class action suit that was being maintained in California state court. As discussed above, the Debtors' goal with such litigation was to transfer it to the Bankruptcy Court in order to resolve all such claims in a single forum. The Debtors ultimately were successful in transferring the Abner case. Ms. Baer worked on matters regarding removal of the Abner case from state court to the bankruptcy court for the Northern District of California (San Francisco) and the subsequent change of venue to Delaware. Mr. McMillin assisted Ms. Baer on the litigation side of this matter in the early going and was later replaced by Christopher Sullivan when he was reassigned to other aspects of these chapter 11 cases.

Contemporaneously therewith, Ms. Baer worked on matters regarding removal of the Smolker case from state court to the bankruptcy court for the Central District of California (Los Angeles) and the change in venue to the Delaware Bankruptcy Court. The Smolker case is a products liability case involving numerous third parties as named defendants in which a silica gel product manufactured by the Debtors was at issue, and which was filed in California state court. Judge Bluebond was the bankruptcy court judge who heard the change venue motions. The plaintiffs in this matter contested the change of venue and Judge Bluebond denied the Debtors' venue transfer motion. Subsequently, the Bankruptcy Court enjoined the Smolker action when it modified the Preliminary Injunction. This turn of events required K&E attorneys to extensively brief this matter and Bennett Spiegel, a partner in K&E's Los Angeles office, argued the matter before Judge Bluebond and assisted in briefing California law-specific issues. Mr. McMillin assisted in the early stages of this matter before he was reassigned because of his workload in other areas.

Mr. Bernick, as the senior K&E litigation partner, supervised all of these efforts and performed a supporting role of providing expert advice as needed.

(d) Class Action Issues (Exhibit A-4).

Prior to knowing how the Bankruptcy Court would procedurally handle the various groups of asbestos claimants' claims, the Debtors anticipated, and prepared for, groups of claimants to file class proofs of claim. This anticipatory research proceeded down several tracks simultaneously. It also required K&E attorneys to review court transcripts and exhibits used in the Barbanti case in Washington, the Price MDL cases pending in Pennsylvania and the Libby cost recovery actions in Montana, a task involving thousands of pages of various court documents. K&E attorneys also drafted class action sections for the CMO motion, which is discussed below, although those sections ultimately were not used for strategic reasons. Finally, K&E used much of this class action background research in the class notice brief and motions to dismiss the adversary proceedings filed by the ZAI claimants and the medical monitoring claimants. See Exhibits G (class notice brief), H (motion to dismiss ZAI Claimants' Adversary Proceedings Complaint) and I (motion to dismiss Medical Monitoring Claimants' Adversary Proceedings Complaint). Kelly Fabian was the attorney primarily assigned to this task. Mr. Bernick, as the senior K&E litigator, supervised her and Mr. Running provided expert advice on particular issues.

(e) Document Depository Tasks (Exhibit A-5).

K&E attorneys spent considerable time on several issues relating to the maintenance of document depositories. First, Mr. Sullivan was the lead K&E attorney who spent a great many hours learning the contents of a 1.5 million document depository located in Massachusetts. Second, Mr. Sullivan worked with Mr. Bernick on a response to a motion by the PD Committee to establish a single document depository. See Exhibit J. Mr. Kapp was the bankruptcy partner responsible for monitoring this matter for bankruptcy-related issues.

Exhibit A-5 to the Initial Report also lists time spent by Ms. Fabian regarding study of documents in a "College of Knowledge" binder, which is a completely separate issue. Ms. Fabian attended a conference sponsored by the Debtors' in-house counsel as a means of understanding Debtors-specific asbestos-related issues. The "College of Knowledge" binder was a compilation of key documents that these attorneys spent considerable time mastering as key building block of the asbestos-related claims resolution process.

(f) CMO Brief (Exhibit A).

K&E used a team approach to drafting the various case management order (“CMO”) pleadings discussed in Exhibit A to the Initial Report. K&E adopted this approach because, as the Fee Auditor is aware from the August 26, 2002, hearing and K&E’s responses to the Fee Auditor’s initial and final reports on the fourth interim period, the litigation issues in these chapter 11 cases are manifold and complex and therefore have necessitated K&E’s adopting a team approach. Moreover, obtaining a case management order was a necessary antecedent to commencing that litigation process. In May 2001, at the first omnibus hearing, Judge Farnan, who originally was hearing these chapter 11 cases until they were reassigned on November 21, 2001, requested the Debtors draft the case management order to lay out their vision of the litigation process.

The Debtors’ CMO motion, which was the first of the Debtors’ case management pleadings, the exhibits thereto and the Debtors’ reply to Committee objections to the CMO motion (the “CMO reply”) are each attached hereto as Exhibits K, L and M, respectively. The time entries questioned in Exhibit A to the Initial Report relate to the enormous effort that K&E put forth over several months to draft their CMO reply. Indeed, the CMO reply was a major undertaking in terms of complexity and intricacy of the issues involved, not only because of the substantial nature of the Committees’ objections, but also because of the need to fully explicate the Debtors’ approach to litigation protocol, claims analysis, claims estimation, and notice to claimants.

In terms of assignments, Mr. Running was the primary draftsman of the CMO motion. Sarah Marmor was the primary draftsman of the Debtors’ CMO reply because Mr. Running had become very involved in developing litigation strategies related to asbestos personal injury claims.

Specifically, the CMO reply was developed in the following manner:

Ms. Marmor prepared, with extensive input from Mr. Bernick as the senior litigator, the critical, and extensive, summary section of the CMO reply. Mr. Running drafted section I of the CMO reply. He worked extensively with Jay Hughes (of Grace) and an expert to review claims files and interpret and extrapolate data. In drafting that section, he also drew upon the expertise of K&E attorneys such as Mr. Hardy and Ms. Boll, each of whom had worked extensively on the Babcock & Wilcox case, including detailed claims analysis. Renee Wicklund was the associate who assisted Ms. Marmor and Mr. Running with research on their respective sections and Ms. Pope and Benjamin Alke (who has since left the firm) were the paraprofessionals who assisted them in preparing charts, cite checking the CMO reply and assembling exhibits thereto.

Mr. Freedman and Ms. Boll prepared section II of the CMO reply, the estimation section. They had done similar work in Babcock and were the logical candidates to draft this critical section, even given Mr. Freedman’s somewhat higher rates. Because of their Babcock experience, they had state-of-the-art information and knowledge and thus were far more efficient - - and effective - - in drafting this particular section than other members of the K&E litigation team would have been. Indeed, their expertise reduced the time and cost involved in drafting section II of the CMO reply.

Claims estimation, as one might well imagine, is a complex topic, and extremely controversial and complicated in the mass tort context. Moreover, there is very little published guidance because, to date, most mass tort cases have tended to be settled rather than litigated. In addition, claims estimation in past cases has not always been successful, making it even more important to get the estimation process “right” in these chapter 11 cases. K&E is attempting in these chapter 11 cases to chart a better course with an approach that will deliver superior claims estimations and thus, at the end of the day, a more equitable plan of reorganization.

Section III of the CMO reply, which dealt with litigation protocol, built upon work done in the CMO motion. The litigation protocol is a detailed schedule of discovery, briefings and hearings designed to resolve the substantive issues of claims estimation and claims analysis, as well as ZAI asbestos personal injury and property damage litigation. Although Ms. Marmor had overall charge of the CMO reply, she relied heavily on work done by Mr. Sullivan, the partner in charge of ZAI and other asbestos-related property damage issues (along with Mr. Hardy to some extent), and Mr. Running, the partner in charge of asbestos-related personal injury issues. Ms. Wicklund assisted Mr. Running in personal injury-related legal research and other matters. The sections relating to case management of personal injury claim matters explicitly detail the medical evidence and the approaches to analyzing that evidence. In the final analysis, the litigation protocol essentially sets forth the Debtors’ ideas on how to manage a mass tort case in the bankruptcy context in order to overcome a badly broken tort system.

Mr. Running and Ms. Marmor, with assistance from Ms. Wicklund, drafted section IV of the CMO reply, which responded specifically to objections raised by the PI and PD Committees.

Ms. Baer drafted section V of the CMO reply, which explained how the Debtors’ very comprehensive proposed notice program would work. In order to prepare this section, Ms. Baer worked extensively with the Debtors’ notice expert and modified the Debtors’ notice program to respond to the numerous objections raised by the PD Committee. Exhibits A and B 1-18 to the CMO reply all relate to the proposed notice program. During this period, extensive discovery, including several depositions, was taken regarding the Debtors’ proposed notice program. Section V of the CMO reply underwent weeks of revisions and amendments arising from extensive negotiations that took place between the Debtors, spearheaded by Ms. Baer, and other constituencies, especially the PD Committee.

During the period questioned by the Initial Report, Ms. Baer worked primarily alone on this complex matter except for assistance on certain discrete matters, such as Todd Hilsee’s deposition. Ms. Boll, who had worked on the Babcock notice program, assisted Ms. Baer in some aspects of this matter, primarily with respect to deposing Mr. Hilsee, the PD Committee’s notice expert. For a further explanation of this time, see infra K&E’s response to Exhibits B-13 and B-17 to the Initial Report.

Mr. Running and Ms. Baer prepared section VI of the CMO reply, which dealt with the forms of proofs of claim, and Exhibits D through J of the CMO reply, which were the forms themselves. The PD, ZAI and PI proofs of claims were not simple. Mr. Running drafted the original form of personal injury proofs of claim and Mr. Sullivan drafted the original form of property damage proofs of claim. Ms. Baer assisted with the drafting of both forms of proofs of claim with respect to bankruptcy-related issues along with some assistance from Ms. Boll as a result of her Babcock experience. Ms. Baer also extensively revised the various forms of proofs of claim to incorporate responses to objections made by the Commercial Committee and the PD Committee.

Mr. Bernick worked extensively with each of the K&E attorneys on each of their particular sections of the CMO reply so that the reply accurately reflected his vision of these chapter 11 cases. So important is the issue of case management, accounting for the vast amount of time and energy expended by K&E on the matter, that K&E believes the CMO motion and the CMO reply to be, without doubt, the most significant pleadings filed to date in these chapter 11 cases.

Indeed, the CMO motion and the CMO reply together were the Debtors' single best opportunity to inform the Bankruptcy Court of their rationale for having filed these chapter 11 cases and how they could most efficiently use the chapter 11 process to successfully solve their asbestos mass tort liability crisis. And thus they set forth the Debtors' vision of how to proceed substantively in every aspect of these chapter 11 cases. More specifically, they provided the framework for resolving the myriad classes of asbestos-related claims in these chapter 11 cases and have resulted in a bar date and approved forms of proofs of claim for non-asbestos and asbestos property damage. They further resulted in a discovery schedule for resolving the ZAI science issues. The manner for resolving asbestos-related personal injury claims is fully briefed but has not yet been decided by the Court.

(g) CMO Hearing (Exhibit A).

In June 2001, the Debtors requested Judge Farnan set a hearing date on the case management order as early as August 2001, with a concomitantly expedited briefing and reply schedule for the CMO motion, the Committees' objections and the CMO reply. The Debtors believed that such an expedited schedule for establishing case management procedures would set a clear course for ultimately resolving these chapter 11 cases. The Bankruptcy Court ultimately gave the Committees until early September to respond to the CMO motion and set the CMO evidentiary hearing for November 21, 2001 (the "CMO Hearing").

Judge Farnan intended that all of the matters outlined in the CMO motion and CMO reply were to be presented at the CMO Hearing. K&E utilized its CMO motion and CMO reply team to prepare for the hearing. Mr. Bernick developed a power point slide show of all the constituent parts of the CMO motion and CMO reply and the issues raised therein. Developing this presentation took Mr. Bernick many hours to prepare with assistance from Ms. Pope and her paraprofessionals and inputs from the various K&E attorneys responsible for each of the constituent parts.

In particular, Mr. Freedman worked with Mr. Bernick extensively to prepare this presentation, especially with regard to claims estimation, issues related to the litigation protocol and bankruptcy issues. Mr. Freedman's advice and counsel were especially important because he was K&E's lead bankruptcy attorney in the Babcock & Wilcox matter. Mr. Freedman's presence saved the Debtors' estates considerable time and resources that would have had to have been expended if another bankruptcy specialist had been brought fully up to speed on these particular issues - - which otherwise would have been necessary but for Mr. Freedman's presence.

Since the CMO Hearing was evidentiary in nature and the Court was permitting witness testimony, the PD Committee and the Debtors exchanged witness lists. Each side spent many hours preparing their own witnesses for deposition and for testimony at the hearing. Each side also deposed some of the witnesses named by the other side, necessitating K&E's preparations to take those depositions. Indeed, Exhibits B-13 and B-17 to the Initial Report isolate one such preparation for, and taking of, a deposition - - that of Todd Hilsee, the PD Committee's notice expert.

Ms. Baer was responsible for putting on expert testimony from the Debtors' notice expert, Kathy Kinsella, regarding the Debtors' detailed and comprehensive notice program and forms of proofs of claim. She prepared Ms. Kinsella for her testimony. Ms. Baer also prepared a power point slide presentation to accompany the testimony. Ms. Boll, as discussed below in more detail in response to Exhibits B-13 and B-17 to the Initial Report, assisted Ms. Baer in preparing for cross-examine Mr. Hilsee regarding certain aspects of the notice program.

Mr. Kapp was responsible for ensuring that the Debtors were procedurally ready for the CMO Hearing. Mr. Kapp, a bankruptcy partner, supervised the filing of all appropriate pleadings and appearances prior to the CMO Hearing and kept the client fully apprised of all developments and briefed the client on how K&E expected the hearing would proceed.

Mr. Sullivan prepared the form of revised case management order that the Debtors sought to have entered by the Court. This form of order set forth, among other things, a detailed litigation protocol as the Debtors would have it proceed. Mr. Sullivan also prepared exhibits and information relating to ZAI and asbestos property damage for the hearing.

Mr. Running was in charge of preparing for cross examination of two experts that the PD Committee named as witnesses for the hearing, Francine Rabinowitz and W. D. Hilton. The PD Committee named these experts, whom the Debtors had not previously known, at the last minute. The PD Committee also refused to make them available for deposition, going to the extent of serving on the Debtors on the evening prior to when the hearing was scheduled to have commenced a solid 10-inch stack of documents produced by these witnesses. Mr. Running was thus forced to investigate these witnesses and determine their particular areas of expertise at the last moment. He then had to consult the Debtors' own expert concerning these two witnesses and to prepare the Debtors' expert as a potential rebuttal witness in order to be prepared for the hearing.

Mr. McMillin did not work on the CMO Hearing. His November 12 time entry on Exhibit A to the Initial Report instead pertained in part to the fraudulent conveyance document search performed at the Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen and Katz offices, which the Initial Report questioned in Exhibit B-11 thereto. The remainder of his November 12 time entry pertained to work Mr. McMillin performed regarding the Debtors' opposition to the Kane motion to lift the automatic stay and certain witness interviews relating to fraudulent conveyance matters. Mr. Oslan's November 13 time entry likewise pertains to his consideration of issues relating to fraudulent conveyance.

K&E used a number of paraprofessionals to assist in preparing for the CMO Hearing to support the immense K&E attorney effort to prepare for the hearing because of its extensive evidentiary scope and its importance to the eventual outcome of these chapter 11 cases. As mentioned above, Shirley Pope worked closely with Mr. Bernick to prepare or otherwise create a great number of exhibits for the hearing. Ms. Pope also organized and indexed the dozens of boxes of documents necessary to support K&E's preparations for and presence at the hearing. Ms. Pope and Emily Knox (who has since left the firm) traveled to Wilmington, Delaware for the CMO Hearing to provide needed support during the final preparations for the hearing and during the hearing itself. Mr. Alke provided paraprofessional support at the K&E Chicago offices for the K&E team. Kimberly Love, who was the senior legal assistant assigned to the Babcock & Wilcox case, provided assistance to K&E's attorneys and paraprofessionals regarding Babcock-related materials relevant to the CMO Hearing. See also, Debtors' response to Exhibit E to and ¶ 11 of the Initial Report.

Consistent with the trial-like scope of the CMO Hearing, K&E's team in Wilmington included Messrs. Bernick, Kapp, Baer, Running, Pope and Knox. The team arrived on November 20, 2001, the day before the hearing, and worked a good part of the night on final preparations for the hearing, including reviewing additional asbestos pleadings that arrived at the last minute.

On the morning of November 21, 2001, while the entire team was putting final touches on exhibits and witness preparation, Ms. Baer was supervising the set-up of equipment needed for the various presentations. Judge Farnan called Ms. Baer into his chambers and informed her that the hearing was being cancelled because of the decision of the Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit to reassign the case to another judge. The Judge indicated that he realized that all of the parties were in town and had spent considerable time preparing for the hearing. He related to Ms. Baer that the Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit had decided on the previous evening to reassign the chapter 11 cases and a number of other asbestos mass tort liability chapter 11 cases before the Delaware Bankruptcy Court to another judge who, at that time had yet to be named (Judge Wolin ultimately was assigned to preside over these chapter 11 cases). Judge Farnan stated that, under these circumstances, he did not believe it was appropriate to proceed with the CMO Hearing because any decisions forthcoming from that hearing would, as discussed above, set the direction for these chapter 11 cases and he did not want to preempt the newly assigned judge's prerogatives relating thereto.

As the Fee Auditor is aware from the August 26, 2002, hearing and the K&E responses to the Fee Auditor's initial and final reports regarding the fourth interim period, the chapter 11 cases were subsequently assigned to Judge Wolin, who bifurcated them to expedite resolution (and hence the case management order issues). The property damage, ZAI and non-asbestos claims portions of the case management order ultimately were heard by Judge Fitzgerald in March and April 2002. The personal injury claims portion of the case management order has been further briefed by the parties and is scheduled for hearing before Judge Wolin in October 2002.

Although K&E expended a great deal of time and resources preparing the CMO motion and the CMO reply and preparing for the CMO Hearing, which was ultimately cancelled, it was valuable and necessary for the preservation of the Debtors' estates. Furthermore, virtually all of the materials produced during this period were either used for the property damage and non-asbestos portions of the case management order entered by Judge Fitzgerald or will be used in the asbestos-related personal injury case management order now before Judge Wolin.

Response Exhibit 2

1. Multiple Professionals Attending Hearings, Meetings and Conference Calls (§ 7 and Exhibit B).

As discussed above, and in the Debtors' responses to the Fee Auditor's initial and final reports regarding the fourth interim period, and as discussed at the August 26, 2002, hearing, K&E's attorneys operate in teams because of the complex nature of asbestos mass tort liability cases in general, and these chapter 11 cases in particular. Very often, therefore, the subject matter of a hearing, meeting or conference call will fall within the bailiwick of two or more K&E attorneys, making it far more efficient (and advantageous to the Debtors) to have those attorneys attending the particular hearing or meeting than to have one attorney spend the time coming up to speed on issues that are not within his or her particular purview.

(a) Conference Call on July 10, 2001 (Exhibit B-1).

Mr. Running and Mr. Kapp participated in this telephone conference to assist Grace's general counsel, David Siegel, in preparing his report to the Debtors' board of directors on the status of the chapter 11 cases. Mr. Running participated in this telephone status conference to respond to questions regarding litigation issues and Mr. Kapp participated to respond to questions regarding bankruptcy matters.

(b) Client Meeting on July 11, 2001 (Exhibit B-2).

The Debtors' management held this July 11, 2001, meeting in Washington, D.C., to (i) brief the K&E asbestos personal injury claims litigation team, consisting of Mr. Bernick, Mr. Running, Mr. Hardy and Mr. Sullivan, on Grace's personal injury experts and their prepetition expert testimony and (ii) discuss and develop the Debtors' chapter 11 litigation strategies, including the selection of experts. The Debtors' general counsel and most senior in-house attorneys responsible for managing Grace's prepetition personal injury litigation participated in this meeting. The Debtors had requested that each of the K&E attorneys listed above participate in this meeting to ensure that they directly benefited from the briefing and participated directly in developing the Debtors' litigation strategy. As discussed above, each of these K&E attorneys was responsible for a particular portion of litigation in these chapter 11 cases and Mr. Bernick is the senior K&E litigator assigned to these chapter 11 cases.

(c) Conference with D. Rourke on July 11, 2001 (Exhibit B-3).

This was a follow-on meeting to the July 11 meeting discussed above. Messrs. Bernick, Running and Hardy and Jay Hughes, one of the Debtors' in-house counsel, met with Dr. Daniel Rourke of APRC, to discuss preparing a statistical sample and analysis of the Debtors' prepetition claims. This project ultimately resulted in Dr. Rourke's affidavit to the Bankruptcy Court in connection with the personal injury aspects of the CMO motion. Mr. Bernick participated in the meeting to hear directly from Dr. Rourke and Mr. Hughes about the available data and the sampling and analytical methods to be used and to ensure that the project was focused on relevant issues and would be completed in time for the expected CMO hearing (which was then scheduled for November 2001, as discussed above). Mr. Hardy provided input to project parameters based on his extensive prior expert preparation experience in other lawsuits. Mr. Running participated because he is primarily responsible for the litigation protocol for asbestos personal injury claims, and was working directly with Dr. Rourke and Mr. Hughes on projects related thereto.

(d) July 19, 2001, Hearing (Exhibit B-4).

As the Fee Auditor is aware from the August 26, 2002, hearing and the Debtors' response to comments in the Fee Auditor's initial and final reports regarding various hearings during the fourth interim period, Mr. Bernick and Mr. Kapp have distinct areas of expertise.

Mr. Bernick, a litigator, is the senior partner in charge of the K&E team and has overall responsibility for these chapter 11 cases. As the Fee Auditor is aware, Mr. Bernick is not a bankruptcy specialist, although he is very experienced in handling asbestos-related bankruptcy cases. He focuses primarily on the litigation matters at the heart of these chapter 11 cases. He has a team of litigation and other specialists who are divided into smaller units assigned to the major litigation matters. Mr. Bernick attends those hearings at which litigation matters are before the Court.

Mr. Kapp, a bankruptcy specialist and K&E partner, supervises the bankruptcy team and is generally responsible for all bankruptcy-related matters in these chapter 11 cases. He also develops the agenda (and ensures that the K&E team is prepared for every matter on the agenda) for each omnibus hearing. Mr. Kapp's presence is thus generally required at each hearing.

At this particular hearing, as Exhibit N shows, a number of litigation-related items were before the Bankruptcy Court, including the Debtors' CMO motion, motions by the Committees to prosecute fraudulent transfer claims and to establish a central document depository and a motion for relief from the automatic stay, each of which required Mr. Bernick's attention. A number of contested bankruptcy-related matters were also before the court, including a motion to extend the time to remove actions and a motion to pay indemnification to certain former employees, each of which required Mr. Kapp's particular attention. Samuel Schwartz, a bankruptcy associate, attended this hearing because he was responsible for matters regarding the interim compensation of professionals and assisted Mr. Kapp on a wide range of issues.

(e) Meeting with Reed Smith and Client on August 2, 2001 (Exhibit B-5).

This August 2, 2001, meeting was held in Chicago to enable Mr. Siegel and Richard Finke, the Debtors' senior in-house counsel responsible for property damage litigation, to develop and coordinate the litigation strategy for defending against ZAI and MK-3 property damage claims with the Reed Smith litigation team (which is the Debtors' lead counsel in the ZAI science trial) and the K&E team. Mr. Bernick participated to directly benefit from Mr. Finke's reports and the Reed Smith litigation team's assessment of the Debtors' prepetition litigation strategy and results and their assessment of the Debtors' chapter 11 litigation strategies. Mr. Hardy participated because of his extensive prior experience in preparing experts to testify on asbestos and other related liability issues. Mr. Running participated because he is primarily responsible for developing the MK-3 litigation strategy in this chapter 11 case. Mr. Sullivan participated because he is the K&E attorney primarily responsible for developing the ZAI litigation strategy.

(f) Meeting with Equity Committee Professionals on August 3, 2001 (Exhibit B-6).

As discussed above, Mr. Kapp and Mr. Bernick often attend hearings and meetings together because there are both litigation and bankruptcy matters on the agenda. In this particular case, the Equity Committee requested a meeting between their professionals and Debtors' counsel in order to familiarize their professionals, who had just been appointed to represent the Equity Committee, with ongoing issues. Mr. Bernick briefed the Equity Committee professionals regarding developments in the resolution of asbestos-related claims, the Preliminary Injunction, the case management order brief and other litigation-related items. Mr. Kapp briefed the Equity Committee professionals regarding ongoing bankruptcy-related issues.

(g) Telephone Conference with R. Finke Regarding Document Retention (Exhibit B-7).

Messrs. Running and Sullivan both participated in the October 1st telephone conference with Mr. Finke because each had relevant information stemming from their distinct roles (discussed above in reference to K&E's responses to Exhibit A to the Initial Report concerning the CMO pleadings) relating to the document preservation motion that was under discussion.

(h) Client Telephone Conference Regarding CMO Strategies (Exhibit B-8).

This exhibit lists two separate telephone conferences. As her time entry indicates, Ms. Wicklund updated the Debtors' management regarding particular CMO matters. According to K&E's records, Ms. Boll engaged in a telephone conference with Ms. Baer, also concerning CMO matters.

(i) Client Telephone Conference Regarding Document Filing (Exhibit B-9).

Ms. Windley participated in this telephone conference with the Debtors to lend her expertise in bankruptcy pleading service requirements and Ms. Pope participated from the litigation perspective in order to ensure that the proper service to the Debtors of litigation and bankruptcy pleadings occurred in a timely fashion.

(j) Telephone Conference With Unsecured Creditors' Committee (Exhibit B-10).

Mr. Kapp and Mr. Schwartz both participated in this telephone conference because Mr. Kapp, as has been discussed previously, is a bankruptcy partner assigned to these chapter 11 cases and Mr. Schwartz was the bankruptcy associate working with him on this particular matter. Mr. Kapp and Mr. Schwartz were discussing with the Debtors' financial advisor (Pam Zilly) and professionals representing the Commercial Committee issues regarding the confidentiality agreements that the Commercial Committee's professionals would have to sign prior to engaging in due diligence on the Debtors, a necessary function for the Commercial Committee. Mr. Kapp was responsible for the overall strategy and supervised Mr. Schwartz, who negotiated the particular terms of each of the confidentiality agreements, drafted the agreements and ensured that they were properly executed prior to the Commercial Committee's professionals commencing due diligence.

(k) Document Review (Exhibit B-11).

Mr. McMillin and Mr. Higgins spent a total of approximately three days in the law offices of Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz reviewing Grace documents that dealt with the Fresenius and Sealed Air transactions.² During this period, Mr. McMillin and Mr. Higgins reviewed over 200 boxes of documents, a majority of which were later produced to the PI and PD Committees during discovery leading up to the fraudulent transfer adversary proceeding trial that is currently scheduled for September 30, 2002.

(l) November 5, 2001, Hearing (Exhibit B-12).

As discussed above, and as the Fee Auditor is aware from discussions concerning time entries for the fourth quarterly interim period, Mr. Bernick and Mr. Kapp generally attend hearings together because they are responsible for separate issues. Specifically, Mr. Bernick attended to the November 5 hearing issues related to the upcoming hearing, then scheduled for November 21, 2001, regarding the CMO scheduling conference. Mr. Kapp attended the November 5, 2001, hearing because of the bankruptcy-related items on the agenda, especially the various automatic stay relief-related motions. Mr. Schwartz attended the hearing to coordinate matters with local counsel and counsel for other constituencies and generally to assist Mr. Bernick and Mr. Kapp.

² Ms. Fabian traveled on the first day to New York but was forced to turn back because an airliner crash on Long Island prevented travel into the city. Ms. Fabian's schedule prevented her from later participating in the document review, which was completed by Mr. McMillin and Mr. Higgins. The time entry attributed to Ms. Fabian for November 15, 2001, appears to be in error because it is not reflected in K&E's November 2001 monthly fee application nor is it reflected in K&E's records.

(m) Hilsee Deposition (Exhibits B-13 and B-17).

As discussed above regarding the CMO reply and the CMO Hearing, Ms. Baer deposed Mr. Hilsee as part of the preparations for the CMO Hearing. Ms. Boll assisted Ms. Baer because of her experience working on the Babcock notice program. Ms. Boll's expertise was of particular interest because Mr. Hilsee had been retained as the debtor's notice expert in the Babcock case. In these chapter 11 cases, by contrast, Mr. Hilsee was retained by the PD Committee as their notice expert. Mr. Hilsee had also been the notice expert in the Barbanti case, a ZAI class action in Washington state court prior to the commencement of the chapter 11 cases. Ms. Kinsella, the Debtors' notice expert, had been retained by one of the committees in the Babcock case to critique Mr. Hilsee's work there. Ms. Boll's insights were therefore particularly helpful to Ms. Baer in preparing for the Hilsee deposition and Ms. Boll was also of immense value during the deposition itself.

(n) Conference Call With L. Duff Regarding Hatco (Exhibits B-14 and B-19).

Other than the Libby site, the Hatco environmental site is the Debtors' single biggest environmental cost exposure. Estimates for the clean-up have run as high as $100 million, although the Debtors believe this to be far too high. Hatco, the present owner of the site, appears to have been lobbying the State of New Jersey during 2001 to force the Debtors to stay involved in and fund the site clean-up. The Debtors have taken the position that they do not own the site and that Hatco must take the lead in conducting the site clean-up. This matter came to a head in two meetings, first with Hatco and then with the State of New Jersey.

Ms. Baer was involved in this matter from a bankruptcy perspective and Mr. Grummer was involved because of his environmental law expertise. Mr. Oslan also lent his expertise as an environmental litigator to resolving this issue. Exhibit B-14 to the Initial Report lists three preparatory telephone conferences with the Debtors' management concerning the Hatco matter in which Mr. Grummer and Ms. Baer participated. Exhibit B-19 lists a preparatory meeting with the Debtors and the meeting with Hatco, both of which took place in Washington, D.C., on December 3, 2001, and were attended by Ms. Baer and Messrs. Oslan and Grummer. For the reasons discussed above, the presence of Ms. Baer, Mr. Grummer and Mr. Oslan were required for those telephone conferences and meetings.

The December 3, 2001, meeting with Hatco concluded with a decision to proceed with meeting with representatives of the State of New Jersey, which ultimately occurred on December 13, 2001, also listed in Exhibit B-19. Mr. Oslan and Ms. Baer attended that meeting with state officials, each for the reasons discussed above, and successfully reached consensus with the State and a way to proceed with litigation. Since that December 13, 2001, meeting, a potentially major litigation matter has been avoided.

(o) Conference Call With Client Regarding Cancellation of CMO Hearing (Exhibit B-15).

As these two time entries indicate, Mr. Bernick and Mr. Kapp both attended a meeting with the Debtors' senior management that was conducted both in person and telephonically, in the aftermath of the cancellation of the CMO Hearing on November 21, 2001. Mr. Bernick focused on the litigation ramifications and overall chapter 11 implications of the cancelled hearing and Mr. Kapp focused on the bankruptcy implications.

(p) CMO Hearing, November 21, 2001 (Exhibit B-16).

See discussion above, in response to CMO Hearing matters listed in Exhibit A to the Initial Report.

(q) Witness Interviews (Exhibit B-18).

As the Fee Auditor is aware from the August 26, 2002, hearing and the Debtors' responses to the Fee Auditor's initial and final reports on the fourth interim period, and as discussed above, Ms. Browdy and Mr. McMillin are the attorneys primarily responsible for the trial preparation in the fraudulent transfer adversary proceeding. The time questioned in the Fee Auditor's Initial Report related to the preparation for, travel associated with and time spent in witness interviews with Grace's former CEO and three other members of senior management during the period of the Fresenius and Sealed Air transactions. Ms. Browdy took the lead on preparing for and conducting two of the interviews and Mr. McMillin took the lead on preparing for and conducting the other two interviews. All of these vital interviews were conducted in Boca Raton, Florida, at the Debtors' facilities over a two-day period in order to most efficiently prepare for them and to minimize attorney travel time and time spent during the interviews.
